WOMAN'S BOARD HOLD REGULAR MONTHLY SESSION

Miss Graydon Contributes Forceful
Paper on Protestant Renaissance
In Modern France.

Interesting Sketch of the Decline and Fall of Gallic Catholicism—Mrs. Daniel's Reminis-cences of Hawaiian Missions.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Board of Missions was held yesterday afternoon in the chapel of the Central Union church. Nearly sixty were present before the meeting closed and great interest was shown in the proceedings. A forceful paper by Miss Graydon on the "Renaissance of Protestantism in France" was the event of the meeting and will be reread before the meeting of the W. C. T. U. to be held two weeks hence.

President Mrs. G. P. Andrews called the meeting to order at 2:30 and after the hymn "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun," read a selection from the book of St. John dilating, by way of comment, upon the Savior's statement: "I have called you friends." "All," said the president, "are called for some purpose whether here or abroad and the privilege of having been called as friends is a glorious one." Mrs. Andrews also recalled some words on the Church Universal, and the statement that sectarianism was opposed to fundamental Christianity.

Some remarks by the Rev. Mrs. George Osborne also called for approving comment from the president. These related to the difference between Charity and Philanthropy, the one being the "Inner Consciousness of Love" and Philanthropy the "Action of that Love." Both were necessary to each other as the accompaniment to the song. The Lord's Prayer was then spoken in unison, followed by the secretary's minutes. A note of regret was read from Miss Martha Chamberlain referring to her unavoidable absence from the meeting through physician's orders concerning a severe cold.

The treasurer, Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, made a report, showing a balance on hand and Miss Laura Green, superintendent of the work among Hawaiians, spoke briefly of her vacation and rest on Hawaii, mentioning the extreme cordiality of the native greetings and the feelings aroused at services held in one of the old churches still fitted with koa benches and overlooking the historical view of Captain Cook's landing, Kealekua bay.

WORK ON OAHU.

Alluding to work among the Hawaiians on this island, Miss Green expressed her disappointment at having to relinquish the cooking classes, a measure which was in some degree mitigated by such classes being carried on in the Kailua and Kaahumanu schools. The sewing classes had too many applicants and many were unfortunately turned away for lack of teachers. Miss Green regretted the lack of willingness among the Hawaiians to act as bible teachers to their fellow natives. Visiting in Kalihi Valley had been fruitful in good results but few rebuffs being met with, while in many cases the heads of the family would join in prayer with the visitors. Miss Green related an incident where a young Hawaiian woman refused to talk with them when she discovered that they were Protestants, she being a Catholic. Most Hawaiians, continued the speaker, profess some form of religion though all do not practise their beliefs. Miss Green concluded her remarks with an appeal for cast-off clothing to be applied to the needs of a Sunday school at Waikiki. Clothes suitable for children of thirteen or thereabouts are especially wanted. Miss Green will be pleased to receive any gifts of this order, and see that they reach a proper destination.

Miss Charlotte Hall, president of the Missionary Gleaners, outlined the purposes of that organization to secure familiarity with Mission fields and workers and to get passing workers to come to the Gleaner meetings and give them the benefit of their experiences.

MEMORIES OF MISSIONS.

The memory of Mrs. Alice Gulick, well known to many of those present, was briefly touched upon. Mrs. W. W. Hall then read the first half of an article by Mrs. Daniels entitled "Memories of Two Mission Fields," reading the reminiscences relating to Hawaii.

The article transported the listener or reader in imagination to the region of Manoa Valley and included visits to Gilbertina, Mother Castle's and Mother Parker's. Mother Castle's clear mental grasp of current events at the age of eighty-two and her charities are touched upon as is Mother Parker's interesting retrospect of the days when she and her husband labored here, the only white people in the vicinity.

The sight of Dr. Hiram Bingham, and his sister, Mrs. Titus Coan, recalled to the writer the Pentecostal days of Hawaiian missionary experience when 1704 converts were baptized in one day. Mrs. Bingham, though enfeebled by age, was described as revising the proofs of a geography written by her, while a glimpse at the library revealed proofs of Mr. Bingham's gospels for the Gilbert Islands. Kawaiahae church called up the days of its building and the epoch of the "Bonnet and Shoe Co-operations," when one native would walk squeakily up the aisle to pass his shoes out of the window to another and he in turn to still others while one bonnet, trimmed by the missionary milliner did duty for six. The good work of the schools in connection with the church was mentioned, as was Kawaiahae Seminary and the Kamehameha schools, the last likened to Hampton. The cosmopolitan free kindergartens were visited in imagination with the Hawaiian Board, the American Board and the Woman's Board and their associations suggested by such notable names as Gulick, Damon, Bishop and Emerson.

MISS GRAYDON'S PAPER.

Mrs. Andrews then announced the "event of the day" and introduced Miss Graydon, who read with dramatic power a forceful paper on the decline of Catholicism and the rise of Protestantism in France.

Miss Graydon started her essay by reverting to the thirteenth century when the greatest and youngest of the Popes, Innocent, so named by the cardinals for his blameless life, held sway over France. A striking photograph of the man was given by the reader, Innocent, a man apart from human failings and equally apart from human sympathy, whose intolerance of the church's enemies was ruthless as it was dispassionate, whose unrelenting search for papal power and whose calm and evenly balanced judgment, casting aside all merely human sympathy; acted as a blighting frost upon the lands he governed as the Head of the Church of Rome. The unfathomable of man for divine power was exemplified in his life.

Tolerance under Innocent was yet unbreathed, unthought of. Auricular confession, recognized as mighty weapon by the far-seeing Innocent, was now made obligatory. The church ruled supreme and peoples, kings and nations

NOTED REFORMER SUN ARRIVES HERE QUIETLY

Man Who Would Like to Overthrow the Dynasty of the Empress Dowager and Her Mandarins.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the famous Chinese revolutionist and reformer, the man who would create a Chinese republic upon the old empire, and whose name is known throughout the world, arrived from Yokohama on Monday as a passenger in the Siberia. Dr. Sun came to Honolulu quietly, as he generally does, and is at present the guest of friends here. He is a man yet young, who was educated at Iolani College, Honolulu, under Bishop Willis. His brother S. Ahmi, is the well known Maui resident.

Dr. Sun came direct from Yokohama, where he has been keeping in touch with the revolutionists in China. His plans regarding his stay in this city are indefinite although he may remain here for about three months, spending a portion of the time on Maui with his brother.

It has been the aim of Dr. Sun to overthrow the dynasty of the Empress Dowager and her mandarins. He is strongly of the opinion that radical reform in China can come only through the sweeping away of the Manchu dynasty and the adoption of foreign methods of administration.

In September 1900, Dr. Sun headed the great young China movement when an attempt was made to have the provinces in lower China rise up against the Imperial Government and overthrow it. It was an audacious move, for Dr. Sun, as a general, commanded only 600 men near Hongkong in an empire containing nearly 400,000,000 people. He intended to make an assault on the town of Wai Chow, calculating on the Imperial troops being withdrawn to put down a Bow Wong uprising elsewhere. He hoped to subjugate Foo Kin province and operate therefrom. That was to have been the beginning of the Chinese Republic. Some 4,000 Imperial troops were sent against Dr. Sun. Then came an uprising, and for a while Dr. Sun's forces were victorious. But the failure of the Bow Wongs to operate elsewhere, defeated Dr. Sun's cherished plans. Finally one of his leaders was captured and executed.

It has been his contention that the large sums of money raised have been of no avail in China, seemingly not used in the way that would bring results.

Dr. Sun may shortly address meetings of the Chinese on his favorite subject.

TENSION IN JAPAN OVER THE RUSSIAN STAND

The Czar's Government Erecting Forts and Mounting Guns at a Korean Port.

Chamberlain Opens the Campaign With Strong Speech—Ex-Postmaster General
Bissell Dead.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLEGRAMS.)

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Oct. 6.—As the date approaches on which Russia agreed to evacuate Manchuria the tension is increasing. It is conceded that Russia will not withdraw on the eighth, the time originally set, but diplomats are hopeful of being able to avert a war between Russia and Japan, as the latter country will probably make a serious move when Russia does not fulfill the promises to withdraw from Manchuria on the agreed date.

TOKIO, Japan, Oct. 6.—It is reported here that Russia is erecting forts and mounting guns at Yongampho, Corea.

Yongampho, the town where the Russians are reported to be building forts and mounting guns, is a Korean town. It is situated opposite Wiju and is at the mouth of the Yalu river. It is also situated on the main road running south from Wiju to Ping Yang, and to the Korean capital, Seoul. Sometime ago it was reported that Russia had bought land at this point and had been massing troops there in the guise of settlers and on September 2nd, a Japanese gunboat held up an American steamer, bound for Yongampho with a cargo of Russian supplies, on the ground that the port of Yongampho was not a treaty port and therefore could not be entered. Its tenure by Russia, together with Yong Chlong, would effectively block Japan from entrance to the Yalu river, an important district in the event of war.

Bissell Is Dead.

BUFFALO, Oct. 6.—W. S. Bissell, ex-Postmaster-General of the United States, died here today after an extended illness.

Bissell was born in New York in 1847. He was a graduate of Yale and studied law with Lanning, Cleveland & Folsom. He entered into a law partnership with Lyman K. Bass in 1872. A year later Grover Cleveland became a member of the firm, and in 1893 Cleveland appointed his former law partner Postmaster-General of the United States. Bissell held the post for two years and then returned to the practice of law.

Londonderry to Resign.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—It is rumored here that Lord Londonderry will resign from the cabinet.

Lord Londonderry has been president of the Board of Education since 1902. His wife, the Marchioness of Londonderry, was one of the most striking beauties seen at King Edward's coronation. Lord Londonderry is one of the richest and most powerful men in Ireland.

Michael Herbert Memorial Service.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 6.—President Roosevelt attended the service held here today in memory of the late Hon. Michael Herbert, British minister to the United States. The President and the late diplomat were very close personal friends.

Chamberlain Opens Campaign.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Oct. 6.—The Hon. Joseph Chamberlain opened the campaign here today with a long speech justifying his attitude towards the tariff in the recent cabinet crisis.

Wrecked by Dynamite.

BUTTE, Montana, Oct. 6.—A Northern Pacific Railway engine and the track on which it was running were wrecked by dynamite today.

Insurgents Repulsed.
